

PRESS RELEASE

The Glassbrook Vocal Ensemble will perform at the Neshanic United Methodist Church, 301 Maple Avenue, Neshanic Station on Sunday, May 20, 2018 at 7 PM. The performance is entitled "A Summer Night on the Water," and features works by Delius, Matthews, Bennet-Thomas and others.

Glassbrook Vocal Ensemble, a professional choir based in Ewing, New Jersey, seeks to enrich the lives of those in diverse communities by supplying the highest caliber of choral music-making. Glassbrook presents captivating concert experiences through collaboration with local musicians, arts organizations, and venues. The choir balances traditional choral music with premieres of new compositions to create varied programs for modern audiences. The choir is composed of the area's greatest educators, performers, and artists.

As a teacher and conductor, Chaequan Anderson has held positions with Princeton Girlchoir, Trenton Children's Chorus, and Christina Seix Academy. Chaequan was also the Choirmaster for the Rho Kappa Chapter of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia Fraternity, America's largest male music fraternity. Currently, Chaequan serves as the Organist at Neshanic United Methodist Church and Director of Middle School Choirs at Montclair Kimberley Academy.

Refreshments will be provided by the Church Ladies, who are known for their elaborate sweet and savory dessert and snack tables.

Cost of admission is $10 per adult. The church is located across the street from the Neshanic Station Post Office, at the intersection of Maple Avenue and Main Street. For more information, call 908 369-3838.
