StoneHearth Bluegrass Band is a traditional acoustic bluegrass band that also often puts a bluegrass style on hits by Simon & Garfunkel, The Drifters, The Everly Brothers, and The Beatles.

StoneHearth has been together since 2002, appearing at various local events such as WDVR's Heartlands Hayride, Flemington's Music on Main, the Hunterdon County Fair, Music at Duke Island Park and charity events at many local churches.

StoneHearth has performed at the Echoes for the Hills Bluegrass Festival as the opening act for Rhonda Vincent and the Rage and again for the James King Band. They have opened shows for bluegrass notables The James King Band, Karl Shiflett and Big Country Show. They've also performed in various subway stations throughout NYC and at Madison Square Garden.
